10:10 a.m.

The House offer that will be made this morning may well include a residual emergency allocation authority of new intrastate natural gas. We had just learned that the House members are still debating this point amongst themselves and may not reach a final decision for another 30 minutes. In talking about this point with Senator Ford, the point to stress about the House offer is the fact that it will substantially cut back on the allocation authorities in the House bill of intrastate gas.

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE PRESIDENT
FROM: JIM SCHLESINGER
SUBJECT: Talking Points for Discussion with Senator Ford

- The bill being offered by the House today is a serious proposal that goes a long way toward meeting the Senate concerns on natural gas.
- It eliminates interference in the intrastate market for both existing intrastate contracts and non-price regulatory matters.
 - o existing intrastate contracts would be grandfathered -- no rollbacks ✓
 - ✓ o allocation of intrastate gas would be eliminated - except in emergency
 - o there would be no producer regulation other than for prices
- High cost gas production would be guaranteed a higher price
 - o Devonian Shale
 - o Geopressurized Methane
 - o Gas Stripper Wells (less than 60 Mcf per day)
 - o Coal Seam Gas

would all be guaranteed 25¢ per Mcf above the controlled price, and the FERC could set still higher prices.

Electrostatic Copy Made for Preservation Purposes

- For deep drilling and deep water drilling FERC would also be required to set high cost prices.
- Starting at the $1.75 price and increasing annually at 9 percent per year is a healthy incentive price higher than the generous levels in the NEP for conventional gas that will result in a price well in excess of $3.50 per Mcf by 1985.
- Given the heavy residential gas loads in Kentucky, any higher prices are likely to impact suddenly on residential consumers. With relatively little industry on gas, the incremental pricing provisions will not offer Kentucky's homeowners much protection.
- The House is going a long way toward meeting the Senate's concerns on intrastate gas and high cost gas. Your acceptance of this package could make agreement possible. The country needs a bill and this would be a fair bill.

Ford is likely to counter with the need for some end point to controls. Johnston or Jackson may well make a counter offer to the House today or tomorrow adding to the House proposal Presidential authority in some future year (Jackson would not go any earlier than 1985) to remove controls based on certain findings subject to a one-House disapproval.

If Ford can accept the House proposal as is, this further concession -- which will make the House very nervous -- would not be needed. If Ford insists on an end point, you should indicate that it would be very difficult to get House approval of anything earlier than 1985 or other than a Presidential authority to remove controls (as opposed to stopping an automatic termination).

A general discussion, stressing the importance of a bill and the key role Senator Ford can play in moving the whole conference forward, probably is the best approach.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: FRANK MOORE f.m./pd.

We are in trouble in the House on Social Security because of absentees and because the Republicans have chosen to make this a partisan issue. It is very very close. 58-21

Some of the liberals are jumping ship so that they can say they voted against the high taxes. The vote on the rule will occur at about 1:30 p.m. I will call reports to Susan.

It looks now as if we have a 3 vote margin on the B-1. That vote will occur as soon as the Senate finishes with Social Security. Again, I will call in reports as I get them.

I HAVE WORKED DAY AND NIGHT TO MAKE SURE THAT A CONCERN FOR HUMAN RIGHTS IS WOVEN THROUGH EVERYTHING OUR GOVERNMENT DOES, AT HOME AND ABROAD.

THIS POLICY HAS PRODUCED SOME CONTROVERSY. IT IS VERY MUCH IN KEEPING WITH THE CHARACTER AND HISTORY OF OUR COUNTRY.

WE BECAME ~~A~~ AN INDEPENDENT NATION IN A STRUGGLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS. THERE HAVE BEEN MANY SUCH STRUGGLES SINCE THEN --

FOR THE ABOLITION OF SLAVERY, FOR UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE, FOR RACIAL EQUALITY, FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS, FOR THE RIGHTS OF WORKERS.

NOT ALL THESE STRUGGLES HAVE YET BEEN WON. BUT THE FREEDOM AND VIGOR OF OUR OWN PUBLIC LIFE IS EVIDENCE OF THE RIGHTS AND LIBERTIES WE HAVE ACHIEVED.

I BELIEVE THAT PUBLIC LIFE EVERYWHERE SHOULD HAVE THAT SAME FREEDOM AND VIGOR.

WE HAVE NO WISH TO TELL OTHER NATIONS WHAT POLITICAL OR SOCIAL SYSTEMS THEY SHOULD HAVE.

BUT WE WANT OUR WORLDWIDE INFLUENCE TO REDUCE HUMAN SUFFERING, NOT INCREASE IT.

THIS IS EQUALLY TRUE WHETHER THE CAUSE OF SUFFERING BE HUNGER OR TYRANNY.

WE ARE THEREFORE WORKING TO ADVANCE THE FULL RANGE OF HUMAN RIGHTS, ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL AS WELL AS CIVIL AND POLITICAL.

THE UNIVERSAL DECLARATION AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS
COVENANTS MEAN THAT ONE GOVERNMENT MAY CRITICIZE ANOTHER'S
TREATMENT OF CITIZENS WITHOUT REGARDING EACH OTHER AS ENEMIES.

WE WILL CONTINUE TO DO THIS, JUST AS WE WELCOME SCRUTINY
AND CRITICISM OF OURSELVES, AS PART OF THE NORMAL DEALINGS BETWEEN NATIONS.

^{HAVE} ^{ED}
WE ~~ARE~~ STRENGTHENING OUR FOREIGN POLICY ON HUMAN RIGHTS,
AND WE ARE LETTING IT BE KNOWN CLEARLY THAT THE UNITED STATES
STANDS WITH THE VICTIMS OF REPRESSION -- WITH THE TORTURED,
THE UNJUSTLY IMPRISONED, THE SILENCED.

Electrostatic Copy Made

OTHER GOVERNMENTS AND THE DISSIDENTS IN EASTERN EUROPE
AND THE POLITICAL PRISONERS IN LATIN AMERICA, ASIA AND AFRICA
KNOW WHERE WE STAND.

WE HAVE SPOKEN OUT AGAINST GROSS VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS
IN COUNTRIES LIKE CAMBODIA, SOUTH AFRICA AND UGANDA.

WE HAVE RECEIVED EXILES FROM MANY COUNTRIES -- EXILES
WHO REPRESENT THOSE WHO ARE UNABLE TO SPEAK IN THEIR OWN LANDS.

WE HAVE ENCOURAGED SEVERAL COUNTRIES TO PERMIT INSPECTION
VISITS FROM THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF THE RED CROSS.

WE HAVE REDUCED MILITARY RELATIONSHIPS WHICH IN SOME COUNTRIES HAVE SEEMED TO IMPLY SUPPORT FOR REPRESSIVE REGIMES.

OUR FOREIGN ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS WILL REFLECT MORE CLEARLY
OUR HUMAN RIGHTS CONCERNS.

WE WILL CONTINUE TO LEAD THE EFFORT IN THE UNITED NATIONS
TO GAIN APPROVAL OF COSTA RICA'S PROPOSAL TO CREATE A HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR HUMAN RIGHTS.

WE SUPPORT THE PRIVATE AND INDEPENDENT HUMAN RIGHTS
ORGANIZATIONS WHICH GATHER INFORMATION AND SUPPORT ACTIVITIES IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS FIELD.

IN THE PAST YEAR, HUMAN RIGHTS HAS BECOME AN ISSUE THAT NO GOVERNMENT ON EARTH CAN ANY LONGER AFFORD TO IGNORE. THERE HAVE BEEN NUMEROUS INSTANCES OF IMPROVEMENT. SOME REPRESENT
GENUINE CHANGE AND SOME ARE MERELY COSMETIC -- BUT WE WELCOME
THEM ALL BECAUSE THEY RELIEVE THE SUFFERING OF PERSECUTED PEOPLE.

THE RESULTS OF OUR HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY WILL SELDOM BE DRAMATIC. THERE WILL BE TENSIONS ALONG THE WAY, AND WE WILL OFTEN BE PERCEIVED AS EITHER TOO RASH OR TOO TIMID.

BUT THIS IS A SMALL RISK COMPARED TO THE RISK ASSUMED
BY BRAVE MEN AND WOMEN WHO LIVE WHERE REPRESSION HAS NOT YET YIELDED TO LIBERTY.

MY PERSONAL COMMITMENT TO HUMAN RIGHTS IS VERY STRONG.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE FEEL AS I DO.

OUR GOVERNMENT WILL EXPRESS THAT COMMITMENT, AND NOT HIDE IT.

WE WILL ENCOURAGE ALL OTHER NATIONS TO JOIN US.

"FIRST QUESTION -- HELEN THOMAS....."

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN.

CHRISTMAS TREE LIGHTING STATEMENT

This is the time of year when we set aside our preoccupations, our differences, and our worries, and remember what is warmest and most open in the human spirit.

It is also a time when, as we repeat traditions that other generations have established, we demonstrate the continuity of our beliefs, and remind ourselves of our connection with those who have come before.

One of these traditions is the lighting of the National Christmas Tree. For more than fifty years, every President has participated in this ceremony. I am proud to participate for the first time, and to carry out a tradition that has been part of our national life for such a long time. Looking at the last minutes of this beautiful sunset and this clear sky, I know it would not be possible to have a lovelier evening for this ceremony.

Too often, the Christmas message of Peace has come in the midst of war. Of all the blessings we have to be grateful for this year, the greatest is that this tree can be lit for a nation at peace. This Christmas also brings the hope that peace will come to a region that for too long has known only war. Last October, I designated this day a National Day of Prayer; there can be no more appropriate subject for our hopes than the success of the mission of peace.

The traditions of Christmas are public ones, but our warmest memories and most vivid impressions are the private joys of friends and family. I can't approach this time of year without remembering that very warm and beautiful story by Dylan Thomas, "A Child's Christmas in Wales," which is probably the best expression I have read of the joy and mystery and love that bind us together at Christmas. Thomas understood how all our Christmases tend to blend together in our minds -- he said he could never remember "whether it snowed for six days and six nights when I was twelve, or whether it snowed for twelve days and twelve nights when I was six," -- and I think all of us come back to this season each year with the feeling that we are somehow returning to a special part of ourselves. Snow never figured prominently in our Christmases at Plains, but I know that it wouldn't seem like Christmas unless I were going back there to be with my own family and my friends. Each time we repeat a Christmas it gathers an added meaning from all the Christmases past.

Christmas is such a festive occasion that we sometimes lose sight of its unique significance for those of our people who are Christians, like myself. For us it is, above all else, a time of reverence and awe, an occasion to reflect on the birth of our Savior and the depth of God's love for all mankind. For all of our people, it is an opportunity to celebrate the diversity of our nation, which is the source of our greatest strength.

The holiday season that we are approaching is a secular celebration of family and friends and the joys in life, but it is also a time for all of us to turn our hearts to each other, not out of pain or grief of desperation, but out of the far greater and deeper need for mutual love and shared joy. I am full of hope tonight, hope that the love we feel for those closest to us will make it possible for all men to see that those they have called enemies, others call "brother," that we all share a common humanity. We are all vulnerable to pain and loss and error, but we are also capable of a nobility and goodness we rarely reach. It is this potential for nobility and caring that gives us hope and sustains our faith that the time will come when the ancient promise shall be fulfilled, of peace on earth, goodwill to men.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

December 14, 1977

MEMORANDUM TO THE PRESIDENT

FROM: JIM FALLOWS/ACHSAH NESMITH

SUBJECT: Christmas Tree Lighting

NOTE: The tree you will light is technically the National Community Christmas Tree. Congress designated the Gen. Grant Tree in Sequoia-Kings Canyon National Park as the official "National Christmas Tree." The 32-ft. live Colorado Blue Spruce you will light was donated by a Maryland family and will remain on the Ellipse. Earlier live trees from faraway places died. The 57 smaller trees, one for each state, territory and the District, will be transplanted in area National Parks. The Georgia tree will be on your right.

1. All Presidents have participated in a lighting ceremony since Calvin Coolidge lighted the first National Tree on the South Lawn in 1923. Beginning in 1954 the two-week Pageant of Peace has expressed our nation's desire to foster friendship and understanding between the nations of the world.
2. A Yule log will burn night and day and bands, choruses and dancers from throughout the nation will present seasonal music through January 1 as part of the Pageant. No one should worry if they see the nine reindeer (including one named Rudolph) still here on Christmas Eve night -- these are not Santa's, but visitors from the National Zoo. (Their antlers are a bit disheveled looking because their most presentable season is spring, but at the North Pole things are no doubt timed better.)

3. The low-wattage lights used on all the trees reduce the energy required (down 74 per cent from the 1972 levels for the National Tree) without sacrificing the traditional sparkle.

4. You have designated this day a National Day of Prayer. We pray for peace not only for our own people but for all the world. As the leaders of two traditionally warring nations seek to reach out to each other and establish a basis for permanent peace in a region that has known only war for generations, we pray that their deep religious faith will guide both sides and bring their efforts to fruition.

5. The theme for this year's celebration is "the American family." The lights on the National Tree are predominantly green, the symbolic color of hope.

6. You find great hope in the fact that families draw closer together at this season. It is one occasion when they turn to each other -- not out of pain or grief or desperation -- but out of the greater need for mutual love and shared joy. Family ties are tested in times of trouble, but they are formed in caring and love, in shared traditions, in the age-old longing to give of ourselves and make those close to us happy. We must carry this spirit of caring to the family of nations, recognizing the common humanity of all people. It is this spirit of love and sharing that sustains us, the hope and faith that is best expressed in the ancient promise of Peace of Earth, good will to men.
